Jerrica Dodd, PharmD, MS

Dr. Jerrica Dodd is an experienced medical affairs professional with experience in the pharmaceutical industry. As a trusted and influential consultant to key stakeholders, she equips healthcare professionals with the data and insight they need to make informed decisions when treating patients with chronic illnesses like arthritis, diabetes, cancer and cardiovascular disease. With a combined 17 years of experience in pharmacy management and the pharmaceutical industry, Dr. Dodd connects with audiences through her relatable, scientifically sound knowledge and practical know-how. As a panelist, workshop facilitator or keynote speaker, Jerrica's enlightened and engaging presentations will make an impact in your dental practice and for your patients.

She is passionate. She is authentic. She is dedicated to making a difference.

DID YOU KNOW?

50% of adults have one chronic illness and 25% have two or more chronic illnesses.¹ With the use of prescription medications, herbs and supplement treatments on the rise, dental practitioners must consider the implications when combined with commonly used drugs in dentistry.

EMPOWERING YOUR TRANSFORMATION

“I worked with Jerrica for nearly two years as a Regional Account Manager/Medical Science Liaison team at Biogen. Jerrica was always thoroughly prepared and she has a passion for patients. She delivers concise and informative presentations and is prepared to handle objections/concerns from the audience. I would recommend her.”

Glenn Tropf
Regional Account Manager

“Dr. Jerrica L. Dodd is the kind of leader that employees and management adore. She is an expert in her field and graciously shares her knowledge as she mentors and coaches individuals and groups on an informal and formal basis. Jerrica is an ordained minister who spends her time helping her church and her community as she volunteers for a number of causes. I am blessed to know Jerrica and give her my highest level of recommendation for ANY opportunity she pursues.”

Miss Phyllis D. Wallace
Manager of Administration at New Life Church & Community Center

“I have been to many seminars and while I find most somewhat helpful, they tend to be a bit on the boring side. Jerrica’s workshop, on the other hand, was not only extremely helpful, but the entire room was engaged and enthusiastic throughout the entire day-long seminar. Not only did she share fantastic advice for improving our communication skills, but she individually helped each person making sure we all took-away information we could immediately use. This was the first seminar that I have ever attended where everyone was still talking about it a week later and saying they wish they could attend another workshop. Thanks to her years of experience, Dr. Jerrica Dodd is incredibly knowledgeable, and eager to share that knowledge with others. She has a true gift of teaching, motivating, and inspiring those around her.”

National Account Executive at Clovis Oncology

“Few people take the time to truly assist others in achieving their goals; those that do rarely take on the task with the same zeal with which they pursue their own aspirations. Dr. Dodd is among the exceptional fraction of leaders/mentors that will guide you towards your target, share knowledge and resources, help you overcome any challenges that arise, and genuinely celebrate your success as their own.”

Crystal Woodard, Ph.D.
Post-doctoral Research Fellow at Sanford-Burnham Medical

“I participated with Jerrica in the United Way of Central Indiana’s year-long Leadership Training and Development/Diversity Series program. Jerrica was a great contributor to class discussions because of her extensive educational background and remarkable professional career. Her leadership was quickly noticeable in her ability to take initiatives and inspire others. Moreover, her thoughtfulness and interpersonal skills helped her build long-lasting relationships with many of the other program participants.”
